

Kennedy Colour Run

Kennedy House is organising a colour run on the last day of this term, Friday, 31 March. The school Cross Country is being held in the morning and the colour run will be held during Period 4.

A colour run by tradition is a unique paint race which celebrates healthiness, happiness and individuality. It will involve students making their way around a course while getting covered in paint powder.

The coloured powder is non-toxic and the powder company has assured that it will not stain clothes. It is however recommended that all students participating wear old clothes or purchase a cheap white shirt for the day.

The purpose of this event is to involve the Wynnum High community and develop house spirit, as well as raise money for the Daniel Morecombe foundation. The school has purchased coloured powder for the day in each of the house colours. The Kennedy House Leaders ask that all participating students donate a gold coin, and all money raised will be donated to the foundation.
